Product Manager turned Product Designer with 4+ years of experience shaping consumer-facing digital experiences across startups and corporate environments. I bring a strong product foundation into UX, having worked end-to-end on defining user experience structure from early concept through to investor-ready prototypes, including wireframes, design briefs, and UI/UX direction. Currently deepening this expertise through a Professional Diploma in UX Design, covering the full process from user research and usability testing to Figma and AI prototyping, and interaction design. I enjoy working cross-functionally to turn ambiguous problems into clear, user-centred solutions that balance user needs with business goals.
